

MANIFESTO

How fintechs grow: in real rooms, with real people, and with promises in writing.

ALEXANDRA studio

Why we wrote this down.

Alexandra Studio works only with fintech. We grow companies by putting the right people in the same room — not by buying attention. These nine beliefs sit behind every engagement. Hold us to them.

01 The problems are worth solving.

02 People buy from people.

03 Collaboration beats competition.

04 Rooms, not ads.

05 Win the whole committee.

06 Marketing isn’t sales.

07 Depth first, then new markets.

08 Promises in writing.

09 Fair by design.

01

The problems are worth solving.

We work only with fintech, because the problems are genuinely hard: payment timing, alternative lending, cross-border transfers, compliance. That work is still unfinished — and it deserves marketing that understands it, not just a bigger ad budget.

Embedded finance infrastructure

Long sales cycles, technical buyers, and a committee that includes engineering.

SME lending

Trust-led buying, regional partners, and distribution that lives in other people's products.

Payments and invoicing

Crowded category, near-identical claims, and a decision made by finance and IT together.

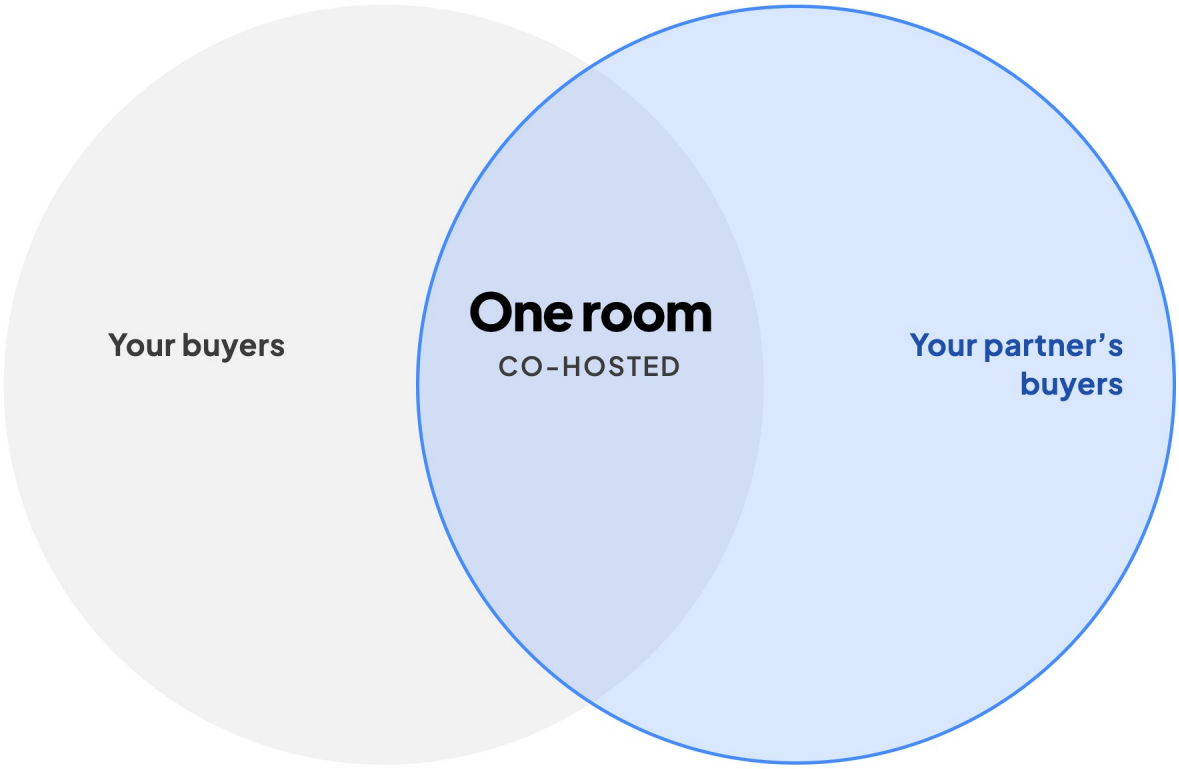

02 People buy from people.

WORD OF MOUTH IS THE BEST CHANNEL. THE DIGITAL CHANNELS ARE EXHAUSTED. IN REAL LIFE IS THE ONLY CHANNEL LEFT WITH 100% TRUST AND 100% CO-CREATION.

03 Collaboration beats competition.

A fintech of 15 to 25 people can't outspend a well-funded rival — so we don't try. We co-host with companies that sell to the same buyers without competing with you: banks, other fintechs, adjacent tools. Their credibility and their audience join yours, in one room.

Ecosystem collaboration is the growth hack.

ROOMS, NOT ADS.

There's no ad spend, because there are no ads. What you get is relationships and a contact list you own — not impressions. One repeatable loop:

1. LinkedIn
2. Co-hosted partnership events — THE UNLOCK
3. Tagging and virality around the event
4. Thought leadership from the event
5. Email newsletter

REPEAT

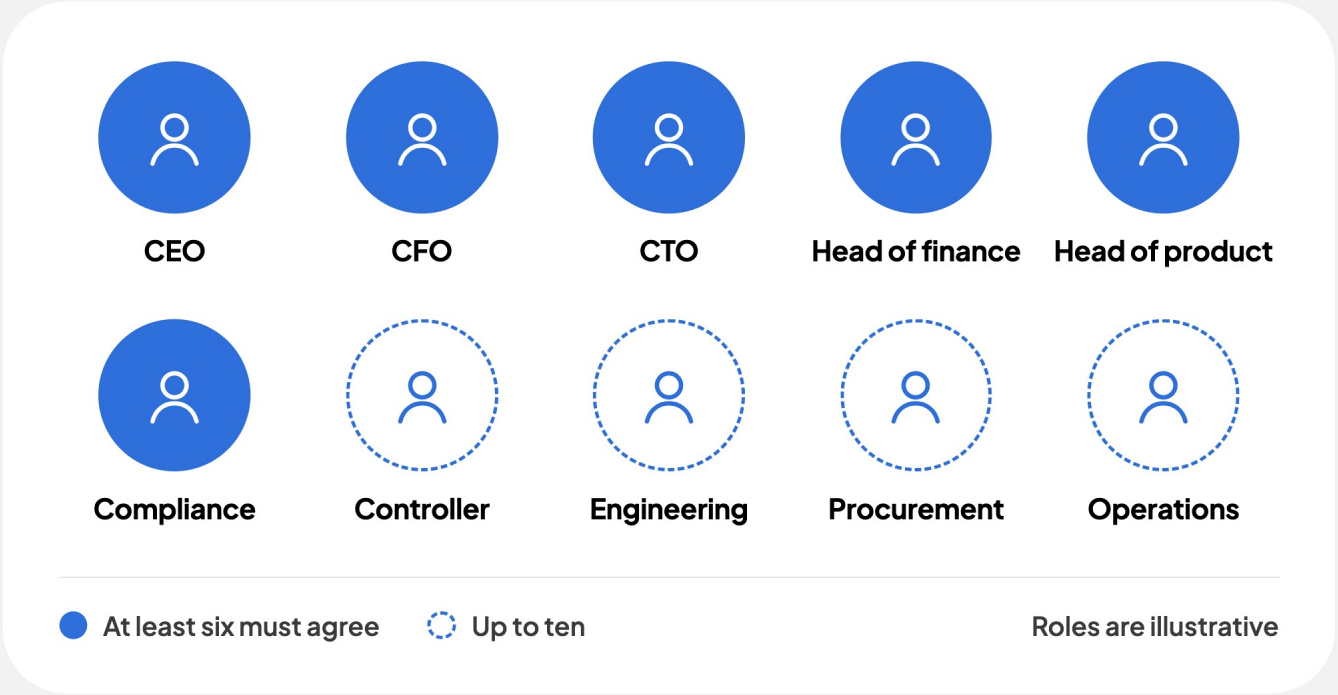

05 Win the whole committee.

6–10

people need to agree on a fintech purchase. Most of them can't be reached with advertising.

So we map the whole committee, find the companies that already sell to them, and bring them into one room — then turn that room into content for everyone who couldn't make it.

06 Marketing isn’t sales.

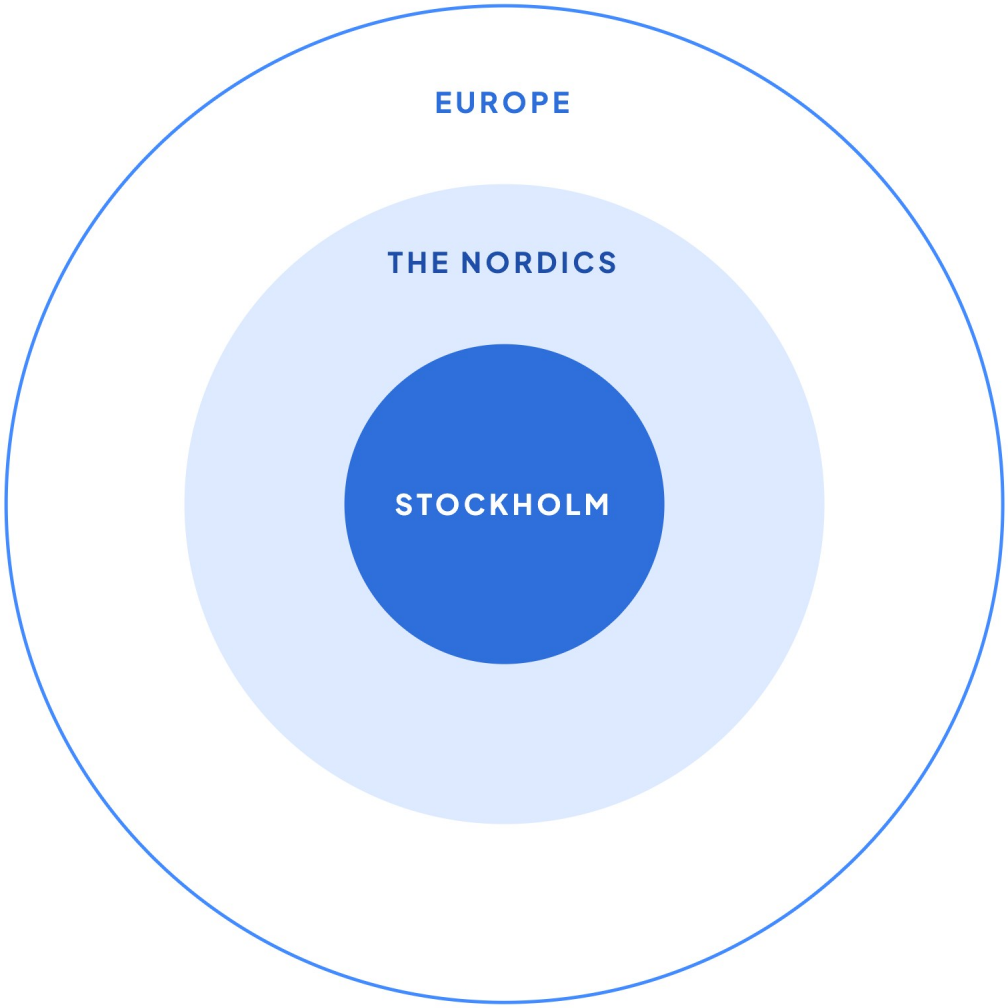

Marketing doesn’t close deals. But without it, you are:

INVISIBLE.
NOT CREDIBLE.
NOT TRUSTED.
NOT SEEN.

Marketing builds the audience. Part of that audience is ready to buy.

And without sales, you don’t close. You need both.

07 Depth first, then new markets.

Nordic fintech runs on a tight network of decision-makers. Show up again and again, next to companies they already trust, and credibility compounds. Win at home first — then expand through the trust you've built, instead of starting over in every new market.

09 Fair by design.

One client per vertical.

We never work with competing fintechs at the same time. That's why we cap how many engagements run at once.

You keep everything.

Guest lists, newsletters, partnerships and content stay with you after the engagement ends.

A human in the loop.

AI helps us produce more. A person makes sure it still sounds like you — authenticity isn't automated.

Honest about fit.

If there's no room worth building for you, we'll tell you so on the first call.

"Alexandra adjusts the outcomes and communicates in advance. She is fair in how she treats her clients."
